

Meeting the Procurement Challenge

Solving critical industrial and corporate procurement problems FAST and FREE!

Buyers are increasingly pushed by the business units to locate products, materials and services faster than ever before. Sudden sales success, business growth or acquisitions puts pressure on Procurement.

Typical Situations:

- Rapid business growth creating higher demands for materials, products and services
- New technologies, best practices or processes in industry requiring specialized expertise that isn't available in-house
- Supply chain breakdowns that result from "lean operations" and lower in-house inventories
- Business changes requiring the purchase of products / services never bought before
- Difficulties in hiring (and retaining) good, qualified buyers that have the knowledge and experience needed
- Expectations to "do more with less" creating problematic, costly backlogs in procurement

WE CAN HELP, IF YOU...

- Have an urgent requirement or complex need
- Need a solution immediately
- Have exhausted in-house know-how or expertise
- Are not satisfied with options you currently have
- Have underperforming suppliers
- Can't handle volume of requests
- See that Procurement problems are putting projects at risk or holding back production

If one or more of these applies, we can solve your problem quickly, and... there is no cost to you!
